EXPORTS

In Iron, Steel and the Like Show Great Success of Trade Abroad.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 13.—
The success of the great manufacturing industries in extending their sales abroad is illustrated by the export record of iron, copper, wood, cotton, leather, and mineral oils during recent years. These six great industries have been able to send their products to every part of the world, accompanied, where necessary by representatives of their producers and distributors and, as a result, show phenomenal gains in their foreign sales. Exports of iron and steel manufactures (including automobiles and agricultural implements with the group usually designated "iron and steel manufactures") have grown from $5 million dollars in the fiscal year 1893 to approximately $75 million in 1913, or more than ten times as much as two decades ago. Copper manufactures show an even greater gain, from $5 million dollars in 1893 to approximately $140 million in 1913.
Manufactures of wood (including in this term lumber as well as the completely finished types of manufacture) show a growth from $24 million dollars in the fiscal year 1893 to about $110 million in 1913. Cotton manufactures increased in exportations from $12 million dollars in 1893 to approximately $53 million in 1913, making it probable that this year's record will pass the figure of the former high record year, 1906. Leather and manufactures thereof show a gain from $12 million dollars in 1893 to approximately $65 million in the current year; and refined mineral oils from $27 million dollars in 1893 to approximately $130 million in 1913.

Taking these six great groups of manufactures—iron, copper, wood, leather, cottons, and refined mineral oils—their aggregate exportation shows a growth in the 20 year period from $125 million dollars in 1893 to $336 million in 1913 and about $75 million in 1913. This indicates a gain of 600 per cent in the exports of these six great groups of manufactures in the 20-year period, against a gain of 126 per cent in the exports of all other domestic products during the same period.

The vast sums of money which these manufacturing organizations are bringing into the country through their sales abroad is illustrated by official figures of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, covering the past decade. The total value of iron and steel manufactures exported from the United States in the 10 fiscal years which end with the current month is, in round terms, 2 billion dollars; of copper and refined mineral oils, each about 1 billion; manufactures of wood three-quarters of a billion; leather and manufactures thereof, a half billion; and manufactures of cotton, nearly a half billion dollars, making a total for the six groups named of approximately 5 1/2 billion dollars out of a total of about 18 billion dollars' worth of domestic products exported during that period.

LIQUOR DECISION.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 13.—A bank agent according to an opinion handed down today by the United States circuit court of appeals.
